

GOATS

Goats are amazing animals. I am going to tell you five facts about goats. First, goats only have teeth on their bottom jaw and they have molars on their top and bottom jaws. They also have four stomachs. Second, goats can have up to six uters, my goat Sammy has six uters. A goat having six uters is not normal. Third, when goats have babies they have something called a placenta, and they have to eat their placenta so that predators don't come. Fourth, goats can have beards even if they have beards. It might not sound so normal but for some goats it is normal. My goats Sammy and Unicorn both have beards. Fifth, there are many different breeds of goats, some are large and some are very small.

Adult goat

Baby goat

I hope you love goats like me.

Written by Payton R. Zobel