

The Amazon Rainforest

Zzzzzz Timber! Crash! How can you help the Amazon Rainforest? Did you know it is being destroyed? The Amazon Rainforest is endangered! This is because people are making bad choices. We have to stop this now.

Watch Out!

The Amazon Rainforest currently has had more than 90,000 fires. There is so much smoke, astronauts can see it from space. The Amazon Rainforest is located in Brazil. It is 2.124 million square miles of land. The deforestation is releasing greenhouse gases. There are no trees to release oxygen which defeats the greenhouse gases. You must be thinking “Well, why aren't there police in the Amazon Rainforest?” Well, it's way too big for one, and they are doing it undercover. The worst thing about it is that they are doing it illegally.

Why Is It Being Destroyed?

The Amazon Rainforest is being destroyed because people want more land for their cattle. If we keep destroying the Amazon Rainforest, it will be destroyed within 50 years. The size of the part that is cut down is as big as California. This is horrible and we must end it.

How Can You Help?

You can do things locally to help the climate change. Here are some examples: 1, turn off the lights when you leave a room. 2, turn off your electronics when you are not using them, or if you can, do not even use them! 3, don't use your fireplace. Get a jacket or a blanket.

Species of the Amazon Rainforest

Here are the different species of the Amazon Rainforest. 427 mammal species, 1,300 bird species, 378 reptile species, more than 400 species of amphibians, more than 5,600 fish species, and 40,000 species of plants. I hope I have inspired you to save the Amazon Rainforest. If we do not do something now, people in the future will never see it. In addition, we would lose more than 3,000 animal species.
